As well as some great quality giveaways such as environmentally friendly USB sticks and pens, visitors will be able to take part in 'Lost in the Botanic Garden' – a free prize draw game with the chance to win one of three fabulous hampers.

Trevor Miller, Sales and Marketing Manager at Leicester Conferences comments "I think most venues in the conference, meetings and events industry will agree that 2009 was a challenging year. It will be good to attend Confex this year with greater optimism that the market will continue to recover. Our message to visitors will be that Leicester Conferences will continue to offer our clients excellence service and great value for money; something which we are very pleased to say has been recently recognised through receiving national industry awards."
