

MEDIEVAL SETTLEMENT
RESEARCH GROUP &
THE SOCIETY FOR LANDSCAPE
STUDIES

WINTER DAY SEMINAR

Fishing, Transhumance and Woodland in Medieval Britain: Papers in Memory of Harold Fox

Saturday, 6th December, 2008

Centre for English Local History, University of Leicester

(With the Annual General Meeting of the Medieval Settlement Research Group to be held at 12.50-1.10pm)

Programme:

- 11.00 Chris Dyer – Introduction: Harold Fox and the medieval past
11.10-11.40 Andrew Fleming – Introducing the wood pastures of Powys
11.40-12.10 Della Hooke – 'Weald-bære & swina maest': wood-pasture in early medieval England
12.10-12.40 Nicola Bannister – Pigs & 'Dens': shaping woodland landscapes in the Weald
12.40-12.50 Discussion
1.00-1.45 Lunch
1.45-2.15 James Barrett - Culture, commerce and cuisine: medieval sea-fishing in socio-economic perspective
2.15-2.45 Mark Gardiner – Transhumance in the Irish uplands
2.45-3.15 Angus Winchester – Out in the wilds? Shielings and transhumance in medieval northern England
3.15-3.45 Peter Herring – Chasing the shadows of medieval transhumance in Cornwall and Devon
3.45-4.00 End discussion
4.30 Drinks and reception

Registration: Space is limited and so it is essential for you to book your place to attend this seminar (but not for the AGM). Please detach and send this slip to: Ms Lucy Byrne, Centre for English Local History, Marc Fitch House, 5 Salisbury Road, Leicester LE1 7QR by Monday 28th November at the latest.

Name:

Address:

Please reserve me place/places at the MSRSG/SLS seminar on Saturday 6th December, 2008. Cost is £15 each, including lunch. I enclose a cheque for person(s) @ £15 each (please make cheque payable to the 'University of Leicester'). Please indicate if you would like a map to be sent to you (tick if appropriate). Salisbury Road is between London Road and Regent Road. It is a short distance from the railway station (max. 10 minutes walk) and a drive of 20 minutes from Junction 21 of the M1.